Heat

1995 · 170 min

A meticulous crew of professional thieves led by Neil McCauley plans one last big score in Los Angeles, while obsessive police lieutenant Vincent Hanna closes in on them. As the two men come to understand and respect each other, both their lives and the people around them are pushed to breaking point. Mann's sprawling crime saga is famous for its tense downtown shoot-out and for the quiet coffee-shop scene in which its two leads finally meet face to face.

1964 · 95 min

When a deranged US Air Force general orders a nuclear strike on the Soviet Union, the President, his advisers and a former Nazi scientist gather in the War Room to try to recall the bombers before it is too late. Kubrick's Cold War satire turns the logic of mutually assured destruction into pitch-black comedy.
